MARRIAGE At the Holy Trinity Cathedral, Shanghai, on 22nd of March, by the Rev. H. C. Hodges, M.A. WILLIAM TAYLOR to MAGGIE CUTHEERTSON.

Hongkong, March 28th, 1894. That the recent violent disturbance exchange should have had a marked effect on the foreign trade of China is only what would naturally be expected, but the figures given by Mt. Kopscu, the Statistical Secretary of the Imperial Maritime Customs, in his annual report, bring the fact home silver currency countries shows a large in--crease, that with countries having a gold currency shows on alarming decline. The import of gray shirtings, for instance, falls short of that of the previous year by 2,158,000 pieces, and other articles show proportionate shrinkages. Up to last year the appreciation of the yellow metal had been accompanied by a corresponding decline in the gold prices ty of exchange exercised a discouraging effect on trade and prevented the expansion that might otherwise have been looked for It did not bring about an absolute falling off. But prices have been unable at once to adjust 1893, and the silver rates for all articles imported into China from gold countries have bad to be advanced. The Committee of ciation in the able letter they recently addressed to the Government of India with reference to the currency question. pointed out that there was a limit to the cost of production in gold coin and that it was certain that the late sudden fall in silver as compared with gold could not have been duction. In the same letter the development of manufacturing industry in China was dwelt prejudice of, he holder of this debenture." upon and the following pertinent observation was made: - "Those acquainted with "the Chinese character are sitisfied that an "industry once securely founded amongst "undertaking." The celebration which the Englishmen at Shanghai propose to carry out at Chang Su-he's garden on St. George's Day is (the N. C. Daily News says) to be, weather permitting, an outdoor as well as an indoor entertainment, beginning at 9 p.m. There is to be a Richardson's Show and other performances in tents on the grounds, a variety show on the stage, and dancing in the great hall after supper. The grounds are to be illuminated, and there will, if practicable, be also a display of fireworks, the whole, it is hoped, making such an entertainment as has not been given before in Shanghal. The Hon. John W. Foster, Secretary of State under the Harrison Administration, was expected at Tientsin on or about the 23rd instant, en reute for Peking. It is understood, the Tientsin Times says, that orders have gone forth from the Tsung-li Yamen that he is to be received with great distinction throughout China. Mr. Foster has had an enviable career as a diplomat, having been successively Minister to Mexico, Russia, and Spain. The weather conditions were not altogether favourable for good scoring, and as a matter of fact few really brilliant cards were returned, though a possiat 500 yards was put in on Saturday by Lieut. Molesworth, R.E. One satisfactory feature of the shooting as compared with last year deserves to be noted, and that is, the great improvement shown by the entrants from the Hongkong Regiment, no fewer than four taking prizes. and capitalists experienced some difficulty in fludian good investments. They lucked favour-ably upon industrial enterprises, particularly upon the cotton spinning industry, which ronlised profits varying between 20 and 30 per cont. annually. Soon ontron spinneries sprang up one after the other to such an extent that the production of yarn in 1880, as compared with 1886, was quadrupled. The carding companies then passed through an acute crisis, for the production of yarns of the higher unmbers having so greatly increased it was difficult to find an ontlet for the goods, and the surplus stock ocensioned considerable embarrassment to the manufacturers. GLADSTONE AND THE LORDS. LONDON, 1st March. When Mr. Gladstone entered the House of Commons at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon he was preceded with a storic of chaers which lasted several minutes. He walked directly to his usual seat and held a whispering conversation with Mr. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Sir William Harcourf, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who sat on either side of him, most of his conversation being addressed to the latter. Lord Rosebery, who is looked upon as the coming Premier, occupied a sest in the press gallery. The Speaker put the question that the amendments of the House of Lords to the Local Government Bill be considered, when Mr. Gladstone arose and addressed the House in what in many respects was the most remarkable speech remark by wire that "the landing of kerosene be has delivered for many years. - He showed no sign of waning power except for an occasional slight huskiness in his otherwise resonant voice. Mr. Gladstone began by saying that the Government had reached the conclusion that the time for passing bills back and forth from one house to the other had ended, and had decided upon a definite course. Laughter and cheers interrupted the Premier, who, when he was able to resume, spoke as follows: To continue the process would be less of lignity to both houses, and the Government has decided to ston the apprecion, and take a decided course. The Government had the choice of resecting the House of Lords amendments and abandohing hope of passing the Bill or of accepting them nuder protest with the hope of scon reversing them. The Government adopted the second choice. (Cheera.) The action of the House of Lunds regarding the Bills of this session has raised a question of the gravest character. Two of those Bills-the Home Rule Bill and the Employers' Lisbility Bill-occupied the attention of the House of Commons 100 days. They involved vast labours. Members of the House of cargo. Mr. Hannen energetically took up the case Commons have worked through this session alrecord, and with an inequalled amount of labour. The House or Lords, without giving it much consideration, wrecked that legislation.

> (Cheers). Mr. Gladstone said he remembered a book ublished in 1880 called "Fifty Years of the House of Lords," The contents of the book loft upon the mind of every Liberal a painful but firm conviction that the action of the House of Lords during those 50 years had been grievously upsatisfactory. (Cheers.)

After further reviewing the action of the Lords in the past on various questions. Mr. Gladstone said: "We have now some to a more sonts stage. The question now is whether the judgment of the House of Lords is not only to surrounding villages; any alloged damage is to modify, but to annihilate the whole work of the House of Commons. (Continued cheers.) The Government has not been anxious to precipitate or and no accontrate a crisis. It has been anxious to save something from the wreck. We are there. fore, compelled to accompling our acceptance of the amendments of the House of Lords to the present Bill with the declaration that the difference between the two Houses cannot continue. (Lond cheers.) Without using any hard words or without presuming to judge motives, we feel it our duty to state the indisputable fact that the issue is raised between a deliberative assemhiv elected by the rotes of 7.0.0.000 men and a different kind of an assembly, though it was occupied by some men of virtue and talent. That controversy, once roused, must go forward to its issue." (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Gladstone said that he was glad that this issue had been postponed in many cases, partly owing to discretion; circumspection, and reserve In the use of the enormous privileges which the House of Lords had on various occasions shown he was afraid that the epoch of that reserve. discretion, and diremmspection bad ended Economists Francais, writing from Tokio under Otherwise members of the Opposition must of high principle and profound importance. ter or be the final judge of its own case. REPORTED COLLISION BETWEEN RUSSIAN AND

GESMAN TROOPS. LONDON, 27th February.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says that rumours of a battle between Russian and German troops on the frontier have been current lamilitary ofroles in Moscow for several days. One version of the reported fight is as follows: aquadron of Russian dragoons saw a party Prussian Ublans making a target of a frontier post on which the Russian urms were displayed The Russian communder requested the Prussians signs to stop firing at the post. The Prussians ignored the request, A skirmish followed, in which several men on both sides, were killed The Russians pursued the Prussians for some distance after the fight.... COLONIAL INSTITUTE REPORT.

TORONTO: 28th February. The following special cable from London appears this morning .- The annual meeting of the directors of the Colonial Institute was held tonight. The report presented states that the movement for increased trade between the mother March country and the colonies is taking a firmer hold on the merchants and manufacturers of Great Britain, while the promotion of commerce between Canada and Australia also evokes the deepest interest and approval. The proposed all-British cable between Canada and Australia was also referred to and most heartily endorsed.

THE PACIFIC CABLE. LONDON, lat March. The Hon. Robert Reid, Minister of Defence for Victoria. Australia, is still pushing the Canadian-Australia aubsidy matter and the Pagific cable scheme. He had an interview yesterday with Mr. C. G. Carle Welby, Assistant Secretary of the War Office, in which he pressed the importance of the proposed cable upon the attention of the War Department. The honourable gentleman will shortly wait upon the Earl of Rosebary. Foreign Secretary, and will afterwards see Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancollor of the Exchequer, in reference to sposidies for the steamship and cable services. It is considered here that in the event of Lord Tokio Rosebery becoming Premier, the scheme would bo made a certainty.
